

The deadline for submission is October 15, 2008. Submissions received after this deadline will still be considered for the SRS specialty issue, though it is important to submit your paper as soon as possible as the review process takes several weeks. When submitting your manuscript, you will need to state that you are submitting your paper for the specialty issue.

Please submit your paper using our online manuscript submission process by going to our web site www.spinejournal.com and clicking on the Editorial Manager link (<http://spine.edmgr.com>). Please state that your paper is being submitted for the SRS Specialty Issue when submitting your paper.

If you have any questions, please contact the Editorial Office.

Sincerely,
